Telematics, Technology and the future of Motor Fleet Risk Management

London/Harrogate, 3 June 2016

HDI is running a workshop on 7 June at the 2016 Airmic Conference in Harrogate on Telematics, Technology and the future of Motor Fleet Risk Management.

There have been significant advances in new vehicle technology and retro-fit technologies in recent years.

The ‘connected vehicle’ is already with us and informed commentators believe this could lead to the fully autonomous vehicle in the near future.

The workshop will cover how these developing technologies can help commercial motor fleet operators to manage their company drivers better and identify the best data solutions for their fleet.

The HDI Motor team will explore with workshop delegates how best to use the technology, and how overall fleet running costs can be progressively reduced.
